Prospector Annual Report 2021

rose@coalliance.org

The Prospector union catalog has entered its twenty second year of operation and continues as a key service for supporting libraries in the Rocky Mountain region. The last 12 months have been quite busy. Nearly 80 of the 15 SWIFT (Statewide Interlibrary Loan System) libraries have been added to Prospector, most of these libraries are doing staff initiated requesting only at this point, except for Polaris and Sierra libraries who fully participate in both lending and borrowing. This next year, the State Library with the assistance of Innovative Interfaces and the Alliance will start to add the bib and patron holdings of SWIFT libraries to Prospector. This is an involved process which requires data profiling and other technical processes.
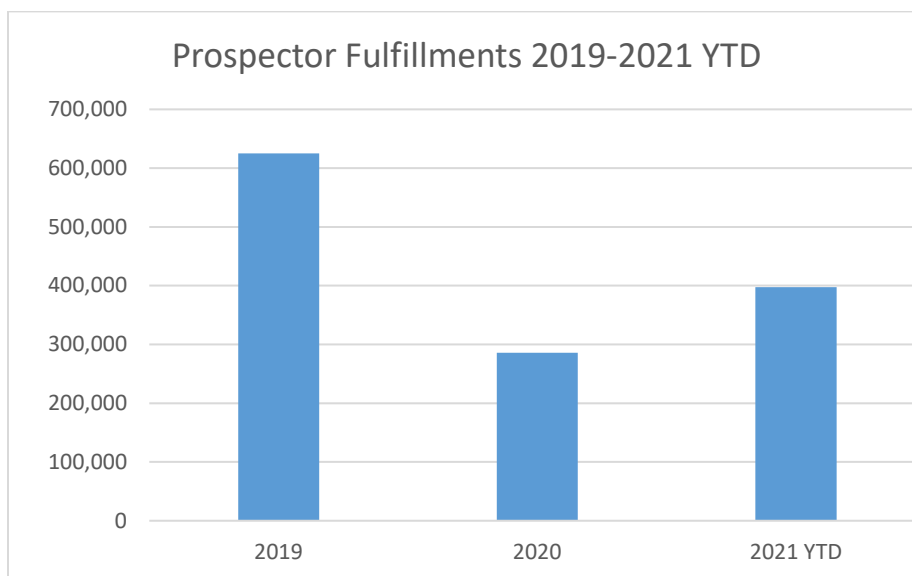

During 2020/2021 UCCS and CU-Boulder were deactivated in Prospector. Both have since returned, though Boulder is lending minimal items at the time. Flatirons Consortium, which includes Broomfield, Boulder, Lafayette, Loveland, Louisville and Longmont public libraries left Prospector for budgetary reasons. We are pleased that they will return in 2022.

United States Air Force Academy, an Alliance member library, Red Rocks Community College and Clearview Library District joined Prospector outside of the SWIFT implementation in late 2020. Anythink library migrated from SirsiDynix to OCLC Wise and re-entered Prospector as a WISE library. The much awaited Direct-to-INN-Reach (D2IR) API for Koha was finalized in 2021 and Colorado College rejoined Prospector through this direct connection which has worked wonderfully.   This provides a much better connection to Prospector than the Resource Sharing Broker (RSB), an intermediary system between Prospector and a non-Innovative library's local system.

The next big SWIFT integration into Prospector is AspenCat, a union catalog of over 100 libraries on a Koha platform which will connect to Prospector through D2IR. In late October, there was a kickoff call to start the project which will be implemented over the next several months.

This year we will continue to focus on expanding digital lending through Prospector. SILLVR (streaming interlibrary loan video resources) is in its second year of operation. Alexander Street, which has over 5,500 multidisciplinary videos and Swank Digital Campus which includes about 1,000 feature films and is restricted to academic libraries, are the two participating vendors in the SILLVR project. The Alliance will continue to ask for interlibrary loan rights in group contracts. We are quite optimistic that SILLVR will be expanded to include more vendors over time. This year we will launch a pilot project with ProQuest to lend "Alliance owned" ProQuest Ebook Central titles through Prospector. The project will start in early December. There are no restrictions on the pilot; patrons from all Prospector libraries can request these ebooks.

The CO Alliance has been closely watching Project ReShare, an open source resource sharing system developed by Index Data and now used by the Connect NY and PALCI consortia. We have begun initial discussions with Marmot and the State Library to explore how Project ReShare could potentially be a replacement for the INN-Reach software. Currently, Project ReShare does not provide real time check for item availability, which is important in a system with lots of public libraries that have high circulation counts. However, Index Data is planning to develop this feature. Any migration to Project ReShare wouldn't happen before 2023.

Alliance Prospector Pricing

November 17, 2021

Introduction

The Prospector union catalog is operated by the Colorado Alliance of Research Libraries on behalf of its members and other libraries in the region. Its underlying software is Innovative Resource Sharing (also called INN-Reach) which is produced by Innovative Interfaces, Inc. (III) and is licensed by the Alliance on behalf of this initiative. The current Prospector pricing model is based on initial and ongoing fees charged by the Alliance for new and ongoing libraries in the system. Additional costs are charged by III to local libraries but are not explicitly covered in this document since they are negotiated by the local library or your consortium.

Prospector pricing will return to pre-pandemic levels (same as 2019) which will allow the Alliance to restore full funding to the program including the infrastructure build-up fund. SWIFT libraries are covered under a separate contract with the Colorado State Library and are not included in this pricing schedule.

Brief History: The historic Prospector pricing model was developed in the late 1990s when libraries typically ran their own stand-alone ILS servers. This model represented one server with one library and one flat fee paid for Prospector participation.   When the libraries using shared integrated library systems (e.g. Marmot and Flatirons) joined in the mid-2000s they were added to the system with a pricing of three small libraries equal to one larger stand-alone library. As libraries have consolidated into shared servers a new pricing model was introduced in 2016. This allowed for a stabilization of Alliance revenue and a more equitable way to share costs based on a standard set of metrics (annual circulation for public libraries and bibliographic record count for academic libraries). Pricing will be reviewed as circumstances change and will be adjusted as needed to cover programmatic costs.

Principles for Alliance Prospector Pricing

Annual Prospector fees paid to the Alliance are not system-based but rather based on library size with larger libraries paying more and smaller libraries paying less. Invoices for Prospector typically are issued in January of each year representing the time period of July 1-June 30 which is the Alliance fiscal year. Let the Alliance know if your library would like to be invoiced before the end of the calendar year.

- The Alliance costs follow price tiers now being used by Innovative Interfaces so that III and Alliance costs change at the same thresholds. The one exception will be at the "very very small" library level where the Alliance will have very low fees but Innovative Interfaces will group this super small group with the next tier up. This lowest price tier will accommodate very small libraries such as those found in SWIFT.
- It is recognized that the pricing levels are not evenly distributed but this is necessary since participating libraries are not evenly distributed in the tiers

- The current model does not use transaction-based pricing as it would drive away the most active participants and cause libraries to suppress use to lower costs
- Alliance pricing for each library is the same whether it is locally operated or in the cloud
- Alliance pricing for each library is the same whether it runs an Innovative ILS or not
- Group systems may redistribute pricing among the members of their own shared ILS if they choose. The Alliance will work with group systems to meet their specific needs.
- Alliance one-time start-up costs are tiered just like ongoing costs.
- A library is defined as an organization under the same budget with the same dean/director. There are no extra costs for branches.
- Lending-only libraries (CRL and State Publications) do not pay annual ongoing fees.
- SWIFT libraries are covered under a separate contract with Colorado State Library.

The Prospector fees are used for the following items

- Total Prospector revenue in 2021: $377,447
  - ~81% - pass through to Innovative for licensing (INN-Reach, Encore, SWIFT integration) & Dell hardware maintenance
  - ~19% - recognized as "revenue" for the Alliance operating budget. This helps cover staffing, IT, and other expenses
  - ~0% - no funds were added in 2020 to the infrastructure build-up fund due to cost reductions for all sites during the pandemic. This will be restored to approximately 10% of the Prospector budget in subsequent years to cover hardware or cloud-based expenses
- Alliance staff including some outsourced contract labor
- Server infrastructure including five servers (Prospector, Encore, disk storage, 2 RSB servers, backup system)
- The deposit account pays for infrastructure upgrades every 5 to 6 years without assessing extra costs in those years. In 2018, the Alliance upgraded its primary infrastructure including servers, storage arrays, switches, firewalls, etc. This depleted the deposit account so new funds will start to be accumulated as we go forward. In the future, as we move to more cloud-based infrastructure, this fund will be replaced by annual cloud infrastructure costs.
- Bandwidth, data center expenses, routers, supplies, travel, sponsorships, workshops

Libraries that are formal members of the Colorado Alliance of Research Libraries receive a cost reduction in their Prospector membership fees as they not invoiced for expenses which were already assessed in their consortial membership.

Library Tiers

The following tiers follow those established by Innovative Interfaces with the exception of the "very very small" group which the Alliance has added to accommodate the smallest libraries in the region. The circulation counts for public libraries are for physical materials (adult & children's) and do not include e-resource use.

Tiers	Public Libraries (circulation/yr)	Academic, Law, Special (Bibs)
Very Very Small	<100K	<100K
Very Small	100K-200K	100K-200K

Small	200K-600K	200K-500K

Year One Implementation Fee

Prospector charges a one-time initial implementation fee for new libraries joining the Prospector union catalog. This fee offsets start-up costs incurred by staff at the Colorado Alliance of Research Libraries for adding a new library to the system. Some of these offset costs include contract negotiation between a library/III/Alliance, staff time for new library support/training, on-site visits, working with a local library and III on resolving start-up issues, configuration implementation and other miscellaneous issues. The one-time participation fee is categorized using the same tiers. Libraries in the very smallest tiers will normally be part of a group system and it is unlikely that they would join Prospector on their own since the Innovative fees would preclude them from joining.

The first time implementation fee is only assessed when a library joins Prospector and Alliance ongoing fees begin in year two. Libraries that are members of the Colorado Alliance of Research Libraries have this initial participation fee waived since the start-up staff costs are covered by membership assessments.

Annual Prospector Fees for Libraries, Year 2 & Beyond*

The annual fees charged by the Alliance for Prospector participation are based on the seven tiers enumerated earlier. These costs only represent Alliance fees and Innovative Interfaces maintains their own pricing structure. As in previous years, libraries may request their invoices either before or after the calendar year cross-over depending on library needs. The default is to send the invoice in January.

- Small $6000
- Medium $10,000

- X-Large $16,000

* Libraries that are formal members of the Colorado Alliance of Research Libraries receive a reduction in their annual Prospector fees to avoid double dipping on expenses.
